Concern about the Future: When an individual or caregiver expresses concerns about continuing to live at home, PACE may be a good option. Neighborhood PACE’s mission is to help older adults live safely and comfortably in their homes and communities for as long as they can, keeping stays in hospitals and nursing facilities as minimal as possible.

Caregiver Burden: When caregivers are getting overwhelmed, Neighborhood PACE can step in and manage the care for loves ones, including scheduling medical appointments, medication management, and much more.

Financial Challenges: If you are struggling with the cost of your healthcare and medications know that you have an option: Neighborhood PACE. Program costs depend on your income and assets. If you are on Medicare and eligible for MassHealth, there are no monthly premiums, co-pays, or out-of-pocket expenses. Options are available for Medicare only and private pay.

Lack of Supports: Frail elders who have been receiving little or no services can benefit greatly from PACE. Upon entering the program, each individual is assessed and a comprehensive, personalized care plan is developed to address all medical and social needs so they can get the services they need.

Medical Issues: Older adults with a range of medical issues are great candidates for Neighborhood PACE. Our Interdisciplinary Care Team proactively coordinates care and medications with all providers, including specialists, to help prevent frequent hospitalizations.

Socialization: Neighborhood PACE Centers are where participants socialize, meet their friends, have meals, participate in fun activities, and see their doctor, nurse, PT/OT, and other clinical and social service professionals.

Memory Impairments: If you or a loved one is forgetting medical appointments, or having difficulty keeping up with house cleaning, laundry, or meal prep, this could be a sign of the beginning of a memory or cognitive problem. PACE can assist with reminders about medical appointments, monitoring medication adherence, and providing help for a clean and orderly home.

Transportation: If it’s getting tougher to drive or get rides from family and friends, we provide transportation to and from all medical appointments and to Neighborhood PACE’s day centers.
